

Exploring the cultural heritage and archaeology of Broughton Island

Photo: Johny Spencer, DCCEEW

Since 2019 archaeologists from the University of Sydney have been collaborating with the NSW National Parks and Wildlife Service, the Karuah and Worimi Local Aboriginal Land Councils and Worimi Traditional Owners on the Broughton Island Cultural Heritage Research Project.

As part of National Archaeology Week, we invite you to a free public lecture that will offer a glimpse into the islands' rich archaeological and cultural heritage and share insights from recent research.

Date: Saturday, 25 May 2024

Time: 1:30pm

Location: Murrook Culture Centre, 2163 Nelson Bay Road, Williamtown

The lecture will be followed by afternoon tea.

For further details, please contact Laura Dafter ldaf8708@uni.sydney.edu.au

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Australian
Archaeological
Association